Chief's Message

Saturday, we enjoyed another Celebrate Shoreline event! The weather cooled off for us, and the lines for conversations and engagement, swag grabs, questions regarding our BDU tools and TAC 30 Bear were consistent all day. I appreciate Det. Kieland putting together another successful event with the help of our City Event planner and partner, Pam Barrett, Mrs. Vanessa Meyer for filling swag bags for hours on end, MPOs Coblantz and Monserud for providing security all day, Dep. Linde for providing BDU outreach, MPO Knight and Dep. McEvelly for manning the Bear all day, and for so much support from patrol throughout the day!

Monday, Cpt. Meyer and Lockhart, Det. Sgt. Connelly, Det. Kieland and I all had the opportunity to meet with leadership from Shoreline public and private schools to discuss the upcoming school year, communication, safety, and engagement opportunities. Our school administration not only supports their Shoreline police department, but they welcome us any time on campus and during after school events. They understand the importance of us having positive engagement with the kids and staff, and this was a very encouraging meeting. On Friday, I meet with Superintendent Dr. Reyes and the school board for deeper conversations as we start a new academic year.

This has been exceptional week of TEAMWORK, and I cannot thank you all enough for your contributions to Kenmore and Shoreline. I am so proud to be part of this Team.

Presenting at the Intl. CIT Conference

Cpt. Tony Lockhart before his presentation at the International CIT Conference in Detroit last week.

The CIT International conference drew over 1500 attendees from all 50 states and a few different countries. The conference provides an opportunity to share and promote best practices across the country from those doing the work. It was an honor to be selected to speak on two different subjects.

Too Close a Call

Commendations will be forthcoming, but we want to recognize MPO Knight, Deputy Swanson, Deputy Glavin, MPO Durrant and Sgt. Fitchett for their efforts during Saturday evening's Trader Joe's incident.

A person in crisis called 911 to say he was going to harm himself with a firearm. Through their exceptional work, they were able to secure the scene and get the man necessary mental health services. Below is the gun (pellet) the man possessed. Sgt. Fitchett's emailed brief to command says it best:

'We were very fortunate not to end up in an OIS last night. The responding deputies handled this very well, professionally and treated the subject with dignity and respect.'

Excellent work by all.

Family Home Daycare Visit

Det. Paula Kieland and Cpt. Tim Meyer with appreciation banner made by children from Chooper Doobers daycare.

On Tuesday, Detective Kieland and I were invited to visit the kids at Chooper Doobers, an Ashworth Ave N daycare. They dedicated this week to recognizing the professionals serving in their community. They welcomed Shoreline Firefighters the next day and will close the week with a field trip to do community outreach elsewhere in the city. Our visit was time well spent -

Thank You Kris...

On Wednesday, Captain Lockhart, Detective Kieland and I took a moment to recognize our own Kris Tsujikawa for all she does serving Shoreline. Often on her own time, Kris captures photos at events like last weekend's Celebrate Shoreline. She serves as our 'editor-in-chief' for the Week In Review, lends her creative talents to countless projects while also contributing, along with Victoria, to the seamless operation of our precinct. Thank you Kris!

Welcome!

A quick welcome to our newest Phase-II partners, Deputy Alec Handley and Deputy Emre Gundogdu. We could not be more pleased to have them aboard.

Thank you all for supporting both deputies throughout their next segment and onto to Phase-III.
