

Welcome to Spring from the Grounds Maintenance Department!

If anyone is around town this evening and the sun ever breaks through consider visiting the Sundial beds at the Upper Shelter at Richmond Beach Saltwater Park. We recently did a renovation and redesign of the beds here, which are a part of a parkwide art installation, called Reflex Solaris. The beds have seasonal interest that is aligned with the position of the sun at the solstices and equinoxes.

Tonight for the Vernal Equinox the setting sun will be reflected back at a person standing on the sundial plinth at the center of the plantings. I attached a map with this spot marked with an X.

Cheers,

Colin McFeron | Senior Grounds Maintenance Worker
